STUDENT RETURNS TO SET CAMPAIGN PACE

Eyes of the Nation on "Cement Campus"—Drive Starts January 28

COMMITTEES ORGANIZED

Will Telegraph Results of Work to Alumni Dinner Held January 31

The student campaign in behalf of the University building and endowment fund is to be the opening gun in the big national campaign to raise one million dollars. The dates of the student project are January 28 to 31, according to the announcement made by Henry H. James, chairman of the student campaign committee.

Mass meetings in each of the colleges will open up the campaign at 5 o'clock on January 28. Three intensive days will follow, capped by a report of the results at the big alumni dinner at the Raleigh on January 31, when the students will "tell the world" what they have done by Alma Mater. This dinner opens up the alumni campaign in all sections of the country. Simultaneously, dinners will be held at other centers where there are many graduates. To these other groups the results of the student campaign will be flashed by telegraph, E. J. Henning, national chairman, announced.

"We are looking to the students to set the pace in this first big effort to do something for the University," Mr. Henning said last night. "The whole country will have its eyes on the old 'cement campus' from January 28 to 31, and what the students do will indicate how soon we are going to have the new building and the great quadrangle."

Chairman at Work

Chairmen have been appointed and are active in each of the colleges. They are now enlisting teams of workers, with the aim to have a corps of at least 250 active workers ready to step out and give all their time from January 28 to 31. Examinations will be out of the way by that time, and there will be the usual lull in class work for a few days.

"The objective of the campaign is a pledge from every student," Mr. James said last night. "We think that is entirely possible, inasmuch as payments can be extended over a period of five years."

"Every student should consider himself a campaign worker, whether or not he is enlisted on one of the teams. Results will reflect upon the entire student body, and it is up to every single man and woman to help make the results perfect."

An award is to be made to the student who secures the highest total of pledges, whether or not the student is a member of a team. The high score student will be asked to attend the alumni dinner at the Raleigh as a guest of the national committee. Awards will also be made to the organization and team securing the greatest amount of pledges.

The student campaign is entirely in the hands of the students. The members of the committee in charge were appointed by E. J. Henning, national chairman, President Lewis, and Dean Hodgkins. On this committee are Henry H. James, Edward Scheufler, Leslie French, Sarah French Smith, and G. Wilfrid Pryor. They first set the date of the campaign for January 14 to 19, but have finally decided upon January 28 to 31, because examinations will then be out of the way.

NO HATCHET DURING EXAMS

There will not be an issue of the University Hatchet during examination week. The next issue will appear, Tuesday, January 29.

Following are the chairmen in the various colleges: Columbia College, Wickliffe Woodard, Marian Barker, Dutch Clements; Law, Hugo Kemmen; Engineering, W. C. Allard, Jr.; Teachers' College, Mary Bixler; Medical, Leslie A. French; Graduate, Dorothea Stevens.

SOCIAL SERVICE COURSES FOR G. W. U. ANNOUNCED

Dr. Emily W. Dinwiddie and Dr. Winifred Richmond, Noted Social Workers, to Have Charge

Two new courses, one in social service and one in psychology, are to be given in George Washington University, beginning January 28. These are advanced work, intended primarily for social workers, police officers, and students of sociology and psychology.

Emily W. Dinwiddie, until recently connected with the Red Cross, will give a two-hour course in Social Service case work. Dr. Dinwiddie is now doing special psychiatric social work at St. Elizabeths Hospital.

Dr. Winifred Richmond, associate in Clinical Psychiatry and Psychotherapy in St. Elizabeths, will give a course in the Psychological Study of the Delinquent. This course, giving two hours credit, will cover the various social and psychic phases of delinquency.

The tuition for each course is $12.

HATCHETTE RIFLEMEN DEFEATS COLUMBIA TEAM

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, NEW YORK, January 14—(Special to the Hatchet) George Washington University rifle team defeated Columbia University in a telegraphic match fired Saturday evening. The Hatchette riflemen scored 955 while the Columbia team counted 921.

ENGINEERS TO MEET

The next meeting of the Engineering Society, which promises to be an interesting one, will take place in the chapel at 8 p. m. on Wednesday, January 16. The main feature of the evening will be an illustrated lecture by Prof. G. W. Lewis, Chief Executive Officer of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Following the lecture by Prof. Lewis a student talk in competition for the Engineering Society medal will be presented by K. S. Markley. This will be the first of a series of student lectures to be given this year.

RIFLE SQUAD TO MEET TEAMS IN NEW YORK

G. W. Crack Team to Compete With Eleven Colleges Saturday

CONFIDENT OF WINNING

Eastern Intercollegiate Gallery Championship to Be Decided at Big Meet

The University's Rifle Team leaves for New York to participate in an eleven-college shoulder-to-shoulder gallery rifle match, to be held at the 71st Regiment Armory on Saturday, January 19th.

This match will give a big boost to intercollegiate rifle shooting throughout the country, and will also show which team is worthy of the Eastern Intercollegiate Gallery Championship. Much credit is due to the managers of Columbia and Yale, for it was through them that this match was planned and all the details worked out. After a great deal of correspondence between the different colleges, all necessary details have been arranged, and on Saturday teams from eleven eastern colleges will meet in New York to find out which one is the best. The eleven colleges and universities represented are: Boston U., City College of New York, Columbia, George Washington, Georgetown, Johns Hopkins, Lehigh, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York U., Pennsylvania, and Yale.

The winning team in this match to be fired Saturday will be the Eastern Intercollegiate Gallery Champion, and will be presented with a trophy which will become its permanent possession. Manager Espey is taking an additional suitcase up with him in which to bring back the trophy.

Telegraphic Matches Doomed

Daniel S. Sanford, Jr., manager of the Yale Team, aptly states his views on the match as follows:

"For Yale and most of the universities in the East it will mean the departure from telegraphic shooting entirely, and the commencement of shoulder-to-shoulder programs. It will mean increased interest among the undergraduate body. It will also give rifle shooting in the eyes of team members and of the athletic authorities the characteristics of an established sport. Finally, it will mean a quantity of publicity in the metropolitan newspapers and a general inspiration to rifle shooting throughout the country."

The conditions of Saturday's match are such that it will require the participants to be in pretty good physical condition to make a winning score and to stand the strain of the match. Five shooters will represent each college and all of their scores are to count for record. The rifles used will be .22 calibre, and ten shots will be fired in each of the four positions—standing, kneeling, sitting, and prone—using N. R. A. official gallery targets for fifty feet. All firing and positions assumed will be according to the regulations of the National Rifle Association.

The District of Columbia will be well represented in this match by teams from George Washington and Georgetown. The latter team won the N. R. A. Intercollegiate Championship last year, George Washington making third place. So far this season G. W.'s Rifle Team has been undefeated, having won from John Hopkins, Boston University, and the National Capital Rifle Club, of this city. George Washington also holds the team championship of the District of Columbia with the Service Rifle.

G. W. Has Strong Line-Up

The Hatchette Team is made up as follows: Walter R. Stokes, Captain; George A. Anadale; James J. Barry; Hugh Everett, Jr.; Eric McG. Newcomb; and Gerald R. Thimble, together with Ralph C. Stokes, Coach, and H. Clay Espey, Manager. Every one of these men attended the local high schools and there took up rifle shooting.

It is a singular coincidence that each of them was at one time a captain of a local high school rifle team, as follows: W. R. Stokes, Central, 1917; Anadale, High School Cadet Brigade Team, 1922; Barry, Tech, 1920; Everett,

All students who have not had pictures taken for the Cherry Tree please do so at once. Seniors send data to Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., 319 Metropolitan Bank Building; fraternities send data to G. Wilfrid Pryor, 1810 Connecticut Avenue; sororities send data to Maxine Rolfe, 2024 G Street N. W.

TAX CARDS ADMIT TO G. W. GAMES

Student activity cards will admit only to games played at the Coliseum, Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue states the Director of Student Activities. Tickets will not admit to the Catholic University, Wednesday night, at the Brookland gym. The next game at the Coliseum will be that with Georgetown University, Saturday night.

et. High School Cadet Brigade Team, 1921; Newcomb, Central, 1919; Trimble, Business, 1921; R. Stokes, Tech, 1919; and Espey, Business, 1919. Each of them has also represented the District on its civilian rifle teams at the National Matches at least once during the period 1916-1921.

They all have numerous distinctions, such as high school outdoor champion.

FIVE DOLLARS OFFERED FOR ENDOWMENT SLOGAN

Must Be Less Than Six Words—Contest Closes January 19—All Students Eligible

Five dollars has been offered by the National Executive Committee of the endowment drive for the best slogan of not more than six words to be used in publicity of the national campaign. The slogans must be submitted before January 19, and the judges, Dean Wilbur, Ralph Wallace, and Henry James, will decide who is to be awarded the $5 gold piece.

All slogans should be mailed to the Slogan Contest Editor, George Washington University, 1707 Eye Street N. W. Students may submit as many slogans as they desire, but only one prize will be given.

If possible, they should be typewritten, with the contestant's name and address plainly legible.

DEBATING SOCIETY MEETS

"Resolved, that we should have a city manager plan of government," was the subject under discussion at the Columbian Debating Society, January 11. Harry Price and M. Wright contended that such would be necessary as the sole means of putting business in government, and pointed to the success of Cleveland, Dayton, and other cities which had adopted the plan. The negative, Theo. L. Edmiston and Karl C. Pearson, contended that the plan was autocratic and instead of taking politics out of government, would put more in, for the city manager plan would legalize the city "boss." The negative was awarded the decision. Karl C. Pearson was selected for first speaking honors and M. Wright for second.

Edward L. Scheufler explained the tryouts for another debating team to be held February 1 on the World Court question.

GIRLS PLAY GALLAUDET

The George Washington girls' basketball team will meet Gallaudet at Gallaudet on Saturday, January 19.

FOOTBALL HOP WILL BE HELD FEBRUARY 1

Honor to Football Squad Is Purpose of Annual Event

FEATURE IS $3.50 COST

Occasion Will Afford Opportunity for Students to Show Appreciation of Team's Work

Big things are in store for the Football Players at their Hop to be held at Rauscher's on the night of February 1. The affair is an annual function given by the school in honor of the Football Squad, and promises many good things for the loyal group.

"The postponement of the Hop has served no other purpose than to allow us ample time in which to perfect plans for the big event," stated Richard McPherson, chairman of the Student Council Entertainment Committee, under whose auspices the affair is held. "The Players have been waiting for this occasion, and we are determined that it shall be an appropriate tribute to their efforts on behalf of the University."

The feature of the Hop is the reasonably low price of $3.50. Chairman McPherson has stressed the fact that the opportunity of honoring the team should be within the financial reach of all students attending the University, and he feels that he has accomplished that purpose in setting the price at such a low figure.

Will Aid Endowment Drive

Coming at the height of the Endowment Drive among the students, the Football Hop will serve in an additional capacity this year by giving every student a chance to demonstrate not only his appreciation of the Football Team, but his confidence and faith in the University as a whole. There will be an appropriate program arranged to announce the progress of the Student Drive to those attending.

It is predicted that the affair will be one of the liveliest and most enthusiastic events so far this year. Every effort is being made to make the Hop show the real spirit of appreciation in which the Student Body regards the work of the Football men.

Chairman McPherson refused to divulge who had been engaged to furnish the music. He said the best orchestra that could be obtained had been given the contract, and promised that every one would be delighted with it.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD

Election of Student Council representatives from the Graduate and Pharmacy Schools will be held February 4. All candidates must send their petitions to Lester Johnson, chairman of the Elections Committee, Student Council, before January 23.

These elections have been postponed a number of times because of lack of interest. The Council urges that these two schools arrange to elect a representative.

Unusual Features Appear in Plans for Junior Week

Prom to be Tuesday, February 19; Mimes to Present the Play; Silver Dorines to be Given the Ladies; Reception on Washington's Birthday

Arrangements for an unusually fine Junior Week are progressing rapidly, in the opinion of Harold Young, president of the Columbian College class.

Tuesday, February 19, has been definitely decided upon for the biggest event of the annual week, that of the Junior Prom.

The Grand Promenade, the climax of the social events of the University, will be held in the beautiful ball room of the Willard Hotel.

Happy Walker's Golden Pheasant Orchestra has been secured to furnish the music. Happy was formerly of the Paul Spect Orchestras, and recently completed an engagement with "50 Miles from Broadway" of the Keith's Vaudeville Association. This ten-man orchestra, composed of two pianists, two saxophonists, trombonist, Bass horn player, drummer, banjo player, and a cornetist, will furnish scyppation from ten to two for the revelers. Best of all, the committee has selected an attractive silver dorine case as favors for the ladies. "The 1924 Junior Class Prom," is to be engraved on the case of the dorine, ever to remind of the happy occasion.

Price of the tickets has not been definitely settled as yet, but this weighty subject will probably be decided shortly by the committee chairmen.

On the afternoon of Washington's Birthday, immediately after the convocation, from five to eight, the Junior Class will give a reception to the entire University.

Because of the University ruling on open social events, the committee has decided to limit admittance to the reception to card only. Cards may be obtained by University students from the office of the Registrar, Law School office, and Medical School office.

Negotiations are under way with the Mimes to give a dramatic presentation during the week. In a communication to the president of the Junior Class,

Playing Independent Teams Deplored by Letter Club

Plans For Inter-Class Track and Field Meet Progressing—Inter-Fraternity, Inter-Sorority, and Inter-Department Relays to be Staged.

Deplored the action of playing independent athletic organizations was the substance of a resolution adopted by the G. W. Club at its meeting, January 11. It was stated by members of the club that the playing of such organization teams adds nothing to the athletic record of the University teams. It is simply a case of nothing to win and everything to lose, was the consensus of opinion. The recent basketball game with the Y. M. H. A. of Baltimore brought about the discussion.

The resolution that was adopted to be brought to the attention of the board of managers follows:

Resolution Adopted by the G. W. Club January 11, 1924.

Whereas it is noted that the G. W. Basketball Squad played the Baltimore Y. M. H. A., January 8, 1924, which game is reported to have been matched to fill out the season's schedule, to obtain revenue, and in opposition to the wishes of members of the squad; and

Whereas it is believed such games are detrimental to the athletic reputation of our University; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the G. W. club assembled this 11th day of January, 1924, that the club protests the playing of said game and recommends to the board of managers that similar games be omitted from future schedules—this action being taken because it is believed games with such independent organizations fall outside the scope of intercollegiate competition and add nothing whatever to the athletic reputation of the University; and, furthermore, are believed contrary to the athletic policy of President Lewis, who has recommended more urban University games; and be it

Resolved, That this resolution be read at the next meeting of the board of managers, and that copies be sent to the Director of Student Activities, coach and manager of the basketball squad, and printed in the University Hatchet.

Plans for the Inter-Class track and field meet are beginning to take definite form, according to the report of

AN ATHLETIC FIELD

A thing which George Washington has needed for a number of years is soon to be a reality. Negotiations have recently been opened to secure for the school an athletic field.

This is indeed welcome news. If there is anything more disheartening to a group of men trying to develop an athletic team than improper facilities for practice and dressing, its effect would be disastrous.

There is a certain amount of pride with which every student regards the possessions of his college. They like to point out its fine buildings, beautiful grounds, and athletic facilities. George Washington students have been denied this pleasure in the past, but we can now point with pride to an administration which has the accomplishments of all these things as its ideal.

This is the first definite move in the direction of procuring athletic possessions, and its influence will have a great effect on the spirit in which the athletes approach their work.

CHEERING

George Washington has come into the possession of a cheering squad. At the basketball games of this season there has been a very good representation of our fellows on the spot to urge the team on with some yells.

"Pep" Balter, cheer leader, is to be congratulated on his efforts to perfect the yells of the college and get enough men out to put them over in good style. He has made splendid progress, and every student attending games should get in with his loyal group and add his voice to the squad.

There is nothing so encouraging to a player as to hear above the noise of battle his name and the name of the college for which he is fighting, it prods him on to the utmost of physical exertion, and if there is any possibility of winning it will bring home a victory every time.

Nor is the appreciation voiced by a cheering squad none too little. It should be remembered that the men engaged in athletics at George Washington are working under many difficulties not experienced at other colleges, and the appreciation of their efforts as voiced by the students through a cheering section, is something they will long remember, even after their college days.

So get behind your teams. You have a student with enough interest and initiative to start it. Support him, and make a cheering section at our games a permanent thing.

ENDOWMENT

Our University is soon to launch a general campaign for endowment. This is the first time in its history that we have gone beyond the doors of the University for assistance. We have waited until we can face the nation squarely, with a clean record of consistent progress and say, "We have done this by ourselves, we now ask your assistance to help us make the University the greatest college of the nation."

The drive for funds among the students is to take place before the general drive. This is done in order that the faith of the students themselves may be first demonstrated before we ask the faith of the alumni and of the public at large.

If the nation can be told that the student body has one hundred per cent confidence, voiced in actual pledges, they can not disregard our plea.

It remains for us to show our faith—every dollar more that you give may mean fifty times that amount by virtue of the spirit in which you give it.

The eyes of the nation are on us, and we can not fail.

Now is our opportunity and we will add our share to the army of dollars that is going to make George Washington the greatest college in the nation—we will give, and give much and gladly, and feel proud that we have the chance to help in such a noble cause.

After all, it's our own college we are doing it for, and there is nothing that will be so dear to us in after life as our Alma Mater.

EXCHANGES

The Girls' Glee Club of Carnegie Tech. are planning a concert to be broadcasted through station KDKA, for the entertainment of their friends who could not otherwise hear them.

Notre Dame's crack football squad studies on all its trips. Professors accompany the squad and regular classes are held in the Pullmans. The Profs might be called "railroad coaches."

By an almost unanimous vote the student body of Columbia College, N. Y., have declared themselves in favor of abolishing mid-year and final examinations. They believe that the doing away with exams will make the student more conscious of the fact that obtaining their degrees is dependent upon daily attendance at classes. The plan is sponsored by the faculty.

Five Wisconsin weekly newspapers were edited and managed by University of Wisconsin journalism students for one week this year.

FINAL TRYOUTS HELD FOR G. W. U. DEBATING TEAM

Dart, Levinson, Pearson, Smith, and Zabel Compose Squad to Meet Swathmore

Final tryouts for the men's debating team of George Washington University were held Monday, January 7, at the Law School. The following were selected to compose an affirmative and a negative team: F. C. Dart, J. Levinson, K. G. Pearson, F. Smith, and O. Zabel. The alternates are M. H. Barnes and H. S. Goldstein. The men prepared constructive speeches of eight minutes and rebuttal speeches of five minutes on the subject, "Resolved, that the courts should be deprived of the final power to declare Federal statutes unconstitutional." Judges were Professors C. S. Collier and E. C. Arnold, and Assistant Professor Elmer Louis Kayser.

The nullifying power of the courts over legislation will probably be the subject on which the men will engage Pittsburgh College and Swathmore. Agitation in Congress over the judicial veto has been current for years. Just now, however, it is being brought to the fore by Senators Owen, Borah, and Ladd. The recall of States judiciaries has been adopted in many far western States. Colorado has a law which practically demands that its people obey an enactment passed by its legislature and approved by its governor, but nullified by its judiciary.

DEAN HENNING LECTURES

In the list of free lectures to be given by members of the George Washington University faculty during 1924, as announced in the University Hatchet, through some error, the lecture on the French Drama, to be given by Prof. Geo. N. Henning, Dean of the Graduate School, was omitted.

ENDOWMENT SUPPORT URGED BY VAN VLECK

One Hundred Per Cent Response Will Voice Student Confidence That Can Not Be Disregarded

"As we praise ourselves, so others outside of our group will value us. If we fail to respond the community and the nation will think our Alma Mater deserves no better support," stated Acting Dean Van Vleck, of the Law School, in his endorsement of the student campaign for the building and endowment fund now being promoted by the University.

In his statement the Dean brought to attention the many difficulties that the University has encountered in its one hundred and three years of service to the nation. He lauded the sacrifice and devoted work of the faculty and students. "This century of achievement has been accomplished with the most meager of endowments and the most inadequate equipment."

The Dean's complete statement follows:

"The George Washington University has completed one hundred and two years of service. During a considerable portion of this period it has been giving college and professional training to great numbers of men and women who by financial circumstances have been compelled to earn their own way. To hundreds of deserving boys and girls this University has furnished the only available opportunity for a broader life and an increased usefulness. Located in the Capital City of a great democracy, it has thus rendered an unparalleled service to the cause of democracy. At the same time it has supplied the city of Washington with a steadily growing institution of learning which performs most of the functions of a municipal university, taking up the work of education at a point where the high schools have left it and continuing it in the fields of higher education.

"This century of achievement has been accomplished with the most meager of endowments, and the most inadequate of physical equipment through the sacrifice and devoted work of faculty and students. The record of the University has proved its case. The way it has surmounted difficulty after difficulty and weathered the storms it has encountered, has won it a recognized place.

"For the first time in its history it is making a general appeal for funds so that it may enlarge its capacity for service to the community and to the nation. It is turning first to its students, faculty, and alumni for aid in the undertaking. They know best the character of the work which has been done, and the obstacles which have been overcome. They also know best the needs which make the appeal for funds imperative. While few of them can individually make large gifts, they are many in number and their combined contributions will be a substantial sum.

Faith Demonstrated by Response.

"The significance, however, of the campaign of our student, faculty, and alumni committees is that it gives us a chance to demonstrate our faith in this institution. As we appraise ourselves, so others outside of our group will value us. If we fail to respond, the community and the nation will think our Alma Mater merits no better support. We who know her best, have given her most of our time and effort, and have received most from her in benefits. If we are lukewarm and niggardly at this crisis, others will pass her by with scant attention and little support. On the other hand, if we respond immediately and generously, one hundred per cent of us at the first call, we will be casting such a vote of confidence as can not be disregarded. At our football games it has been said of us that we have poor cheering. We have in the campaign just beginning a great chance to give a concerted ringing cheer which the city and the nation will hear, and to which they will respond.

"To cast these ballots of faith and confidence in the form of substantial gifts of dollars will not be easy. If it were easy and meant no sacrifice, the testimonial would not be so strong. We can, at this time, best show our admiration for the past of our University, our gratitude for her service to us and our confidence in her future, by the extent of our sacrifice and the promptness with which it is made.

Law School Has Kept Pace

"To students and alumni of the Law School this campaign for an adequate endowment should have a strong appeal. As methods of legal education have improved and standards have been raised the Law School has kept pace. Behind it each time has been the support of the entire University. When the Association of American Law Schools adopted high entrance requirements and more stringent rules for afternoon students, and the Council on Legal Education of the American Bar Association was formed to classify law schools according to the same strict standards, the president and trustees of the University were in entire accord with the faculty in meeting these requirements.

"The new standards of one year of college work for admission until 1925, and two years thereafter, and of eight semesters for afternoon students, mean a loss in numbers, temporarily. Yet the University is behind the Law School to the limit of its fight to improve legal education in the face of competition from schools with lower standards of admission, shorter courses, and less stringent scholarship requirements. The Law School is a separate department with separate students and faculty and separate problems. Yet it is part of one whole; a great University with an honorable history, an honored name and a promising future. We owe a loyalty to this great institution which does not conflict with our loyalty to our own special department. In helping her we help ourselves. We should throw our self heart and soul into this campaign without reservation."

LECTURE IS BROADCAST BY G. W. U. CHEMIST

Organization Will Also Hear Lectures By Scientific Men in January and February

Brigadier General Amos A. Fries, chief of the Chemical Warfare Service of the United States Army, broadcast a lecture December 28, from station WRC, under the auspices of the George Washington University Chemical Society. The George Washington organization will also broadcast in the future two lectures, one by Dr. Brown, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, and one by Dr. Edwin E. Slosson, author of "Creative Chemistry." Dr. Slosson's book is well known as a work which has made of the science a live, interesting subject.

Dr. L. I. Shaw, of the Bureau of Mines, who was to have lectured before the Chemical Society December 19, was forced to abandon it on account of a serious relapse following an operation for appendicitis, but will give his lecture on February 20. This will be one of the finest lectures to be brought before the society this year, and it will be illustrated by lantern slides and experiments showing spectra of the various rare gases and means of their liquefaction. Raymond M. Hann, of the Bureau of Chemistry, and a G. W. student, will also give a paper on "Recent Advances in Chemistry."

At the next meeting, January 30, Dr. S. C. Lind, chief chemist of the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, will address the society on "Radium—Its Production and Uses." The lecture will be illustrated with lantern slides and samples of radium and radium products. J. F. T. Berlinger, George Washington student, who formerly worked on rare-earth metals at the Bureau of Standards, will give a paper on "Rare-earth Metals."

These meetings will be held in the Medical lecture hall, 1335 H Street. Everyone is invited to attend.

Arrangements are being made for the Annual Dance of the society to be given in February or March.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA DANCE

Phi Sigma Kappa celebrated the arrival of the new year with a dance at the Chapter House. Serpentine, paper hats and the noisiest of noise makers added to the occasion.

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA MEETS

The University Orchestra met for its first rehearsal January 9, and made progress that promises success for this organization.

Under the leadership of Manuel Comalado, the orchestra is preparing for the musical production which Mr. Robert Lawrence plans for music week. The orchestra and chorus are to be used together in this production, which is an ode portraying the history of America.

MEET HILLTOPPERS TEAM

This week is a hard one for the Hatchette dribblers, for after taking on Catholic University the locals travel to the Hilltop and play Georgetown in Ryan Gym, Saturday night. Georgetown has played but one game, but showed fight to come from behind and beat St. Joseph's. Captain Carney, guard, and O'Keefe are the only veterans, but in McNaney, former Aloysius Clubman, and Sweeney, the Hilltoppers have a dangerous pair of forwards.

G. W. is out for revenge Saturday night and the Buff and Blue wearers are going to put forth every effort. Last year a big G. U. team fessed the light Hatchette quint about for an easy victory.

NEGOTIATIONS START FOR ATHLETIC FIELD

Will Have Seating Capacity of 4,000 and Accommodate Practically All Sports

Negotiations with two realty firms with a view of buying an athletic field for George Washington were recently opened. One of the most attractive of the offers made to the University would provide space and facilities for football, baseball, track, tennis, and hockey. A club house and dressing rooms for the teams are also in contemplation.

The field under consideration is in the immediate vicinity of the University, and will have a seating capacity of 4,000 or more. Those working on the project are President William Mather Lewis, Dean Hugh Miller, and Bryan Morse, director of student activities.

The administration has definitely committed itself to the securing of proper athletic facilities, and this is the first move in that direction. Arrangements will be speeded up by the fact that President Lewis wishes to have the field and club ready for use when school opens next fall.

One of the greatest handicaps that the outdoor teams have experienced has been the lack of proper field facilities, and to this fact much of their apparent poor condition may be traced. The football team has been using the municipal field at the Tidal Basin, with the result that much time is taken up in traveling to and from practice.

Baseball has not been played at George Washington for some years, but the acquisition of a field will probably mean the revival of this sport.

Bryan Morse, director of student activities, is very enthusiastic about the future of athletics, and says that a University field will do much to increase interest in outdoor sports.

Track will be most benefited by acquiring an athletic field in that this team will also be given an opportunity for outdoor practice.

G. W. BASKETBALL SQUAD LOSES TO MARYLANDERS

University of Maryland defeated the Men's Basketball team for a 41-22 score Saturday night at College Park Gym. Starting well and leading by 7 to 3 at the end of the first five minutes the Hatchettes let the old liners get an upper hand and seemed unable to stage a comeback.

The effective five man defense used by the Marylanders proved too much for the Hatchettes to break.

LAW SCHOOL TO BANQUET AT EBBITT FEBRUARY 2

The annual banquet of the Law School will be held on Saturday, February 2nd, in the Crystal Room, New Ebbitt Hotel, Fourteenth and F Streets.

Tickets have already been put on sale at the Law School and may be secured for the reasonable price of $2.50 each.

It has not definitely been ascertained who the speaker will be, but the Law School Senate hopes to secure Congressman Cable, who is a graduate of the Law School.

A five-piece orchestra has been engaged to furnish music during the banquet, and there will be singing afterwards.

HATCHETITES ENCOUNTER G. U. TEAM AT BROOKLAND

Reporting of New Men May Aid Squad in Struggle of the Red and Black Floor-men.

Coach Daily is pointing his quint for Wednesday, January 16, when the Hatchettes meet the sturdy Catholic University at Brookland. While the locals have not been any too impressive in their recent starts, yet they may be counted on to give a good account of themselves.

Several new men have reported to practice and will add the team to a large extent. Bob Newby, a guard, was a star at Central in his prep school days. Art Nichols, center, while having no real experience, has been playing excellently in the fraternity series. The same is true of Jim Davies and Johnny Ketcham.

The Brooklanders have lost but one start this season and the veteran C. U. outfit is an excellent quint. In Eberts and Breslin the Catholics have two very good forwards, clever floor men with dead eyes. Fitzgerald at center, plays an important part in the C. U. teamwork. His jumping and passing is deadly. However, the real strength of the Brooklanders lies in the two powerful veteran guards, Lynch and Lawlor, who will make life miserable for any forward.

Acting Captain Klopsch has been going at a nice clip lately, and can be counted on to score Wednesday night. Woerner and Wagner are the other forwards. In the back court Mike Dowds has been the real backbone of the Hatchettes' defense. Reynolds, Hyde, Neviasser, and Newby will probably see service. Brown or Nichols will try to keep Fitzgerald under cover at center.

POSTPONED HOP MAY BE HELD AFTER EXAMS.

The third annual football hop at George Washington University in honor of the football team, which was postponed some time ago by President Lewis on account of a lack of co-operation and interest among the student body, is expected to be staged some time after the examinations.

No definite arrangements have been made but the question is under consideration by the faculty at the present time. Price of tickets will be reasonable, probably lower than usual.

"PEP" BALTER ON THE JOB

Saturday night found "Pep" Balter and his cheering squad on the job at College Park for the basketball game with the University of Maryland. There were not many voices to give the squad volume, but those present did very well. It may be noted that "Pep" and M. had no cheering whatsoever, which aided the loyal group of G. W. men by suffering no competition.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON HOST

Sigma Phi Epsilon has host at two dances during the holidays, the first a Christmas dance, Monday, December 24, and the second a New Year's dance, Monday, December 31. The spirit of the holidays was manifested in the decorations and fruit salad and punch formed the "piece de resistance."

Clifford B. Scott, of O'Neill, Nebr., editor of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Journal, spent part of the holidays here, visiting at the chapter house at 1810 Connecticut Avenue.

Don Johnson returned Monday, December 31, from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended the grand convocation of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. He reports a very successful meeting.

TO HOLD DEBATE TRYOUTS

Tryouts to determine the selection of another varsity debating team will be held February 1, 8 p. m., at the Law School. The question is, "Resolved, that the United States should adhere to the protocol establishing a world court with the Hughes reservations." Five-minute speeches will be expected.

A hearty response is solicited for the tryouts. The world court team may debate Ohio Wesleyan, John Hopkins, and the University of Maryland. The subject is one of general appeal. It has been discussed ever since an alternative for the League of Nations became necessary. The fact that the question is worded, "with the Hughes reservations," gives the affirmative a very strong argument. The United States would thereby reserve the right to withdraw should loans to other powers, economic policies thought antagonistic to American interest, or enmeshing entanglements seem likely.

RAZZBERRY RUMORED OUT AT JUNIOR PROM

Nothing of Plans for Contents of Satirical Sheet Divulged—To Initiate Six

It is rumored that plans for the Razz Berry, the satirical sheet issued annually by the George Washington University chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, were made at the last meeting of that society held Friday, January 11.

Nothing concerning the contents could be learned from members of the fraternity. The only information that was given out was that the publication would be distributed either at the Junior Prom or the Reception.

Initiation of Robert W. Howard, G. Wilfrid Pryor, Fred Youngman, Henry James, Arthur Perry, and Eugene S. Thomas, recently pledged to the fraternity, will take place shortly after Junior Week.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB PLANS JAPANESE OPERETTA

The Girls' Glee Club is progressing slowly but surely on the road mapped for this year. The girls are planning and working on a Japanese operetta, to be presented in the early spring. The presentation will contain solo parts and choruses, with Japanese settings and the typical picturesque costumes. It will be two acts. Meetings are held every Friday at one o'clock, and every second Wednesday of the month at eight o'clock in the chapel at Lister Hall.

The club is also working on several songs. Meetings are postponed for the next two weeks, due to examinations, but will be continued the first week after.

G. W. STUDENTS ATTEND CONFERENCE ASSEMBLIES

The Student Volunteer Conference met at Indianapolis, Ind., for a discussion of world problems December 28. There was a delegation from Maryland, Delaware, and District of Columbia which numbered about seventy-five.

The Conference was attended by 6,500 delegates representing over 1,000 schools and colleges in the United States, Canada, and other countries. The speakers likewise were drawn from many countries, including Dr. Paul Harrison, from Arabia; Dr. Studert Kennedy, chaplain to the King of England; John R. Mott; Dr. Sherwood Eddy; Robert Speer; and Dr. Wilder.

The following George Washington University people attended: Miss Edith Petrie, Mrs. William Petrie, James Moulden, and M. R. Malone.

LAW SCHOOL IS FULL MEMBER OF A. A. L. S.

Dean Van Vleck Clears Up the Confusion of Two Distinct Law School Associations

Due to a misunderstanding there was a slight error in an article which appeared in the last issue of the Hatchet, about the rating of the Law School by the American Bar Association.

For fear that there would be some misapprehension on the part of some of the students, Acting Dean Van Vleck wrote a letter to the Hatchet correctly stating the facts about the matter. His letter is quoted below: "I would like to ask you to correct an erroneous statement as to the Law School, made in the Hatchet in the article 'Law School Retains Membership in Association.' The article confuses the two entirely separate organizations—the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools, and states that the Law School is now rated as class 'B' by both associations. This is not true. The American Bar Association Council on Legal Education does rate the schools as 'B,' approving without reservation the four-year course for employed students, but withholding the 'A' rating because we do not yet have two years of college work as an entrance requirement. As far as the Association of American Law Schools is concerned there is no such thing as a class 'B' school. A school is a member or is not a member. This school is a member on absolutely full equality with every other school in the association. The unfortunate sentence in the Hatchet is likely to create an impression that in some way we are not given full standing in the Association of American Law Schools."

ships, high school all-round championships, etc. The record of Walter Stokes as an international shooter is well known. In 1920, Everett took fourth place and a gold medal in the National Individual Rifle Match, held under the direction of the War Department at Camp Perry, Ohio. Newcomb was a member of the Cornell University Rifle Team for the years 1920-1923. In 1919 he took third place and was high civilian in the President's Match at the Caldwell, N. J., National Matches, for which he received the Eisner Trophy.

Many Colleges Recognize Rifle. Rifle shooting is being taken up by the colleges and universities of the country in quite an enthusiastic manner. Beside the above-mentioned meet, there will be held this year the Intercollegiate Championship Gallery Match under the auspices of the National Rifle Association, in which all of the colleges of the country are eligible to enter teams; the program of the Northeastern Intercollegiate League, embracing the strongest colleges in the Northeast; and the match for the Eastern Intercollegiate Championship with the Service Rifle, which will be fired over the U. S. Naval Academy Range. It is not known now which team will participate, but last year teams from Cornell, George Washington, Georgetown, Pennsylvania, and Syracuse, together with the Naval Academy did so.

George Washington has recognized rifle shooting as a sport for several years and has given the school letters for participation with the team. All of the G. W. men above mentioned, with the exception of Newcomb, have received both minor and major letters for this sport. Newcomb was awarded a minor letter by Cornell in 1922. Other colleges, including Pennsylvania and the Naval Academy, have also recognized their rifle teams in a similar manner.

UNUSUAL FEATURES APPEAR IN PLANS

J. Foster Hagan, president of the Mimes, suggested that the play be given on Saturday, February 23. This date was adopted by the committee. Further details are to be worked out by the Mimes.

At present a basketball game with Catholic University is scheduled for the night of the Prom, February 19, but it is expected that this date will be changed to Monday, February 18. Leonard E. McCarthy has been named chairman of the Prom. The other chairmen and members of the committees will be announced later.

Rauscher's, Connecticut Avenue and L Street, will be the scene of the Greek festive affair, and Friday, March 21 is the time. Happy Walker will furnish the music. The tax will be $5. The committee in charge is Clayton Langer, chairman, Edwin S. Bettelheim, Raymond Wiseheart, and William Gordon.

300 STUDENTS ENROLLED IN GRADUATE SCHOOL

Faculty Constituted of Distinguished
Professors Who Do Fine Work,
Says Henning

"The Graduate School at George Washington University is bigger and better this year than ever before, having an enrollment of over 300," said Dean George Neely Henning last week.

For the last three years this branch of the school has been increasing its membership and improving its facilities, and the University as a whole should be proud of the work done by this important part of it.

Because of the nature of the work there is necessarily less organization than in any other of the departments. This, however, does not reflect on the department or on the method of handling it, and credit is due to all connected with it because of its unusual success in the face of such great handicaps.

The Graduate School faculty has a number of distinguished professors who put a part of their time to the work, and these men are, for the most part, leaders of Washington's literary and scientific worlds.

PLAYING INDEPENDENT TEAMS DEPLOYED

the committee at present working on the project. The tentative date set for the event is Saturday, April 12.

Besides the usual events of a track meet, the committee announces that an interfraternity, inter-sorority, and inter-department relays will be held. It is expected that cups will be presented to the winners of the relay races. It is also planned to recommend to the student council that they award numerals to those who win first place or six points in the meet.

Several organizations in the University has indorsed the G. W. Club in its plan to put on the inter-class track and field meet. Pyramid Honor Society, Pi Delta Epsilon, Honorary Journalistic Fraternity, and the interfraternity council have all adopted resolutions indorsing the G. W. Club plan and offering aid in putting over the track and field meet.

The committee in charge of arrangements is Hillory A. Tolson, president of the club; Thomas Proby, coach of track; Edwin S. Bettelheim, Wm. B. Simonds, and Francis Clements.

At present the membership of the club is 29. Keys of an attractive design have been adopted. Members of the club who have not ordered their keys, are requested to get in touch with Hillory Tolson.

The next meeting of the club will be held shortly after the completion of examinations.

It is imperative that all organizations desiring space in 1924 Cherry Tree transmit reservations for space to Cherry Tree Executive Offices, 319 Metropolitan Bank Building, before February 1. No insertions will be made unless organization has paid the rate of $20 per page before the book goes to press, all accounts payable by March 1, 1924. Clubs and fraternities are urged to clean this matter up on time.

Individual pictures may be taken at Edmonston Studio at $2.50 for complete sitting.

This year's book will contain at least 60 more pages than the last, and at least 4 color plates. Organizations should send in data, including names of officers and members, as soon as possible. Corrections or additional data will be handled up to the date of going to press. Snapshots of scene of campus life will be most welcome.

UNIVERSITY CHORUS TO REHEARSE EACH FRIDAY

Rehearsals of the G. W. University Chorus are being held every Friday night in the basement of the church at Twentieth and G Streets N. W. All members of the faculty, students, and friends of the University are urged to come out.

Practice is under direction of Robert Lawrence, leader of community singing. The music is all new, being 1924 copyrighted, and will be given its first production during the G. W. music week.

Dean Hugh Miller, of the Engineering School, was one of those who appeared at the last practice.
